

Innovation Theatre

Showcasing Global Clean Energy Innovation and Inspiration

7 June 2017

Taking place as part of the

8thClean Energy Ministerial & the 2nd Mission Innovation

China National Convention Center

Beijing, China

Theater Overview and Selection

The 8thClean Energy Ministerial (CEM8) and 2nd Mission Innovation Ministerial (MI-2) will feature a new “TED Talks” style event, the Innovation Theater, to showcase new and potentially game-changing clean energy innovations and inspirations from China and around the world. The event will feature innovators, scientists, R&D leaders, and entrepreneurs from leading companies, research laboratories, and other organizations presenting on emerging clean energy topics. More than 350 clean energy professionals, including financial investors and incubators, will be invited to attend the Innovation Theater, along with global and Chinese media.

The acceptance of presenter applications will be based on relative merit and adherence to the following criteria:

- Novelty: Demonstrates an example of innovation that has not yet to be widely adopted or diffused.
- Impact: The innovation’s potential for impact and scalability to accelerate global clean energy deployment or low-carbon development.
- Intelligibility: Proposals, even of a complex or technical nature, must articulate their value in easy to understand terms that are comprehensible to lay audiences.
- Completeness of Application: Application includes all required information and provides an accurate and thorough description of the technology to be presented.

Key Dates

31 March 2017	Fully complete application must be received.
10 April 2017	Selection process complete and presenters confirmed and notified.
7 June 2017	Day of event, 09:30-18:00
